The South Fayette Street bridge over Paint Creek soon is to undergo needed repairs, according to action taken by the county commissioners.

This bridge which carries a heavy traffic and has been the object of a considerable number of appeals for improvement from many of those who use it during the past few years, was up for discussion by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and the county engineer, at the regular meeting of the commissioners Monday morning.

It has been, and still is, a question as to whether the State Highway Department or the County Commissioners are legally responsible for keeping the bridge in a proper state of repair and the commissioners are hoping to obtain aid from the state on this project.

Today the commissioners passed a resolution authorizing the county engineer to advertise for bids for the repair of the bridge which is showing evidence of concrete surface disintegration and some damage to the under-structure.

The date is soon to be fixed for receiving these bids according to

Another Big Snowfall Hits Northeast U.S.

(By The Associated Press)

Another wintery mantle of snow covered much of the northeast today while a black blanket of dust swept the southwest.

Snow - weary New Englanders once again started digging out after a spring storm dumped a foot of snow yesterday.

The snowstorm, propelled by winds up to 62 miles per hour, was the fourth big snow to hit the northeast in 24 days.

At least seven deaths were attributed to the new storm. Most of the victims died of heart attacks while shoveling snow.

The high winds and heavy, wet snow felled hundreds of power lines and knocked out heat and light in 75,000 homes.

A "black duster" whipped up by 75-mile-per-hour gusts lashed the Texas Panhandle yesterday and threatened to spread through the rest of the state today. The dust also choked parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado.

Amariño, Tex., was darkened in what the weather bureau said was the worst dust storm since 1936.

Three persons were killed in a three-car pileup near Amariño, during the height of the storm.

Four men on Wyoming, northern Colorado and Nebraska.

Up to 10 inches fell in Wyoming. Two persons were killed and eight injured in a bus-car collision near Rock Springs in that state.

In the northeast the spring snow fall ranged from 2.7 inches in New York City to 25 inches in the Catskill Mountains.

A survey from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight showed at least 18 persons died in traffic accidents over the previous weekend with the Easter holiday in progress, only eight persons were killed in highway mishaps.

In non-traffic fatalities, one man burned to death when fire destroyed his home.

Arab-Israeli Clashes Speed U.N. Aide's Trip

Hammarskjöld Cancels
Parley In Rome To Hurry To Palestine

JERUSALEM (P)—More Arab raids inside Israel and a clash on the Jordan frontier gave new impetus today to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to restore peace along the turbulent Arab-Israeli borders.

A close-quarter skirmish in the Judean hills and two other attacks near the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip left three Israelis wounded. Jordan reported two Israelis and two Jordanians killed in a patrol clash six miles inside the Jordan frontier.

Israel ordered secret security measures to cope with what it called Egyptian commando raids deep in Israeli territory.

Reliable sources said all persons over 15 would be required to carry identity cards.

Premier David Ben-Gurion warned the U. N. Palestine truce supervisor that "Israel must reserve to herself freedom of action if no unequivocal and unreserved assurance is obtained from the Egyptian government that it would refrain from all hostile acts."

THE SITUATION was so grave that Hammarskjöld ordered the Palestine truce supervisor, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to remain on the scene instead of flying to Rome for a conference with him.

Hammarskjöld wound up briefing sessions with two top U. N. Middle East officials. He planned to leave for the Lebanese capital of Beirut after an audience with Pope Pius XII and a talk with Italian President Giovanni Gronchi.

An Israeli army spokesman charged that Arab raiders struck the southern Israel village of Gal-On between the Jordan border and the northern end of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip. First reports listed one man wounded in a rifle and hand grenade skirmish.

The Israelis also reported a child wounded in a grenade attack on Shafir, another village in the same area. A cyclist was wounded in a raid in the Samaritan Hills.

The Israelis claimed Arab commandos killed four Israelis and wounded 15 in a series of 10 raids Saturday night near the Gaza Strip. They charged that the commandos, called Fedayeen, had been organized from Palestine Arab refugees and organized into "suicide squads."

The border incidents have crackled for three straight days since Burns called for a cease-fire. The Palestine truce supervisor conferred with Ben-Gurion on possible ways to halt the bloodshed.

An Israeli foreign office spokesman said Ben-Gurion had warned Burns that Egypt must give iron-clad assurances it would refrain from hostile acts or Israel would take whatever measures it deemed best.

Hammarskjöld is expected to remain in the Middle East nearly a month on the mission authorized by the U. N. Security Council.

Antelope In Zoo Have Good Timing

BALTIMORE (P)—The nilgai herd at the Baltimore zoo, antelope immigrants from the Indian subcontinent, seems to know how to grab local publicity.

One of the female antelopes gave birth to a 4-pound youngster over the weekend—just in time for the 80th anniversary of the zoo's charter. Earlier this year, two births were recorded on New Year's day and leap year's day.

Adlai Kefauvering Through Illinois

CHICAGO (P)—Adlai Stevenson is winding up his bid for the backing of his home state for the Democratic presidential nomination with a flurry of Kefauver-style handshaking and some new pot shots at his chief opponent.

Also eyeing later primaries, Stevenson offered to debate issues with Sen. Estes Kefauver in Florida after tomorrow's voting in Illinois. Kefauver promptly accepted the idea, but there was no immediate formal invitation.

The Illinois primary may be a crucial test for Stevenson. He is the state's former governor. The Democratic organization is almost solidly behind him, and his is the only name printed on the Democratic preference ballot.

But Kefauver supporters are urging voters to write in the name of the lanky Tennesseean in what they call a "spontaneous" movement. Stevenson himself predicts Kefauver may get a "substantial write-in vote" in Illinois.

Also receiving backing for write-in support is Ohio's five-term governor, Frank J. Lausche, but he has not caused much stir.

EACH PARTY will elect 50 convention delegates tomorrow. A state convention later will choose an additional 28 delegates-at-large, each with one half vote, to make up the remainder of the Democratic 64-vote delegation to the national convention. The Republicans will fill out a 60-vote delegation.

Stevenson yesterday went further in the criticism of Kefauver's voting record in Congress that week drew charges of "mud slinging" from Kefauver.

"The fact of the matter is that during the 83rd, the last full Congress, the Congressional Quarterly discloses that Sen. Kefauver voted only 59 per cent of the time, whereas the average for all senators was 84 per cent," Stevenson said.

Stevenson called for a big Democratic vote with these words: "Whether we are going to get

Masked Men Get $100,000 At Cock Fight

STEBENVILLE (P)—Authorities today were piecing together bits of information in an attempt to solve a holdup by several masked men at a game cock fight. One man was shot and about 100 patrons robbed.

Exact amount of the loot could not be determined, but one estimate placed it at about $100,000.

Sheriff Clarence Eberts said the holdup took place Saturday night in a barn on the farm of Sylvester Frankhauser west of here.

Frankhauser was jailed without formal charge pending further investigation. Cock fighting is illegal in Ohio. Specially trained game cocks, equipped with metal spurs, are pitted against each other as spectators wage on the outcome.

Eberts identified the shooting victim as Harry Hewitt, 57, of Norfolk, Va., who was hit in the left shoulder by a .32 caliber bullet. Hewitt was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The robbery victims had scattered by the time officers reached the farm. But the sheriff said according to bits of information he has been able to pick up this apparently is what happened:

Seven masked men carrying revolvers, machineguns and sawed off shotguns entered the barn and announced a holdup while an undetermined number stayed on the outside as lookouts. The bandits placed a bed sheet in the right room and told the patrons and those in charge of the fight to toss their jewelry onto the sheet. Some of the robbers went among the crowd taking wallets.

All the bandits wore Army type fatigue clothing. Two of them wore black half masks and the others had green hoods over their heads. Hewitt was shot by one of the lookouts as he tried to jump through a window.

President Poised For Another Trip

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower, leaving today for a week at Augusta, Ga., already has piled up 105,603 miles of travel since taking office.

Figures from White House records indicate he has been away from Washington about 38 per cent of the time.

On this ninth trip to Augusta one of his favorite relaxation spots, Eisenhower plans a week of golf mixed with work. He arranged to fly in his personal plane, Columbin III. The flight takes about 2½ hours.

Symposiarch Officers Named

Education Discussed
B Judge R. H. Gorman

Members of the Washington C. H. chapter of Symposiarch today settled down to workaday routine following the national convention of the organization here Friday and Saturday.

Highlights of the general convention session at the Country Club Saturday afternoon following a luncheon meeting of the executive board were the election of officers, approval of some revisions in the constitution and by-laws, the creation of a trust fund and adoption of a policy for expanding the present 26-chapter organization.

At the evening meeting that followed the customary banquet, which also was held in the Country Club, the new officers were installed by William Junk of the Washington C. H. chapter and Judge Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati delivered the main address of the convention.

Dr. David L. Beers, a Warren physician, was elected president for the coming year and Karl Stegemeier, an Indianapolis stock and bond broker, was named vice president.

The three new directors named were Morton Johnson of Bellefontaine, Jack Horner of Pittsburgh and William Seibenthaler of Dayton.

Other members of the board are Charles E. Evans of Urbana, O. B. Maxwell of Cincinnati, Marl H. Kennedy of Wheeling, W. Va., and Allen I. Pretzman of Columbus.

Belford F. Carpenter of Washington C. H., the retiring president, automatically became chairman of the board of directors. Pearce Wright of Columbus is the executive secretary.

Colin C. Campbell of the Washington C. H. chapter was the convention secretary and Judge Max G. Dice, president of the Washington C. H. chapter, was the toastmaster at both the Friday night get-together dinner at the Country Club and the Saturday night after dinner program.

INASMUCH AS Symposiarch is made up of members of national college Greek letter fraternities, Judge Gorman tied in much of his talk on "The Visiting Firemen" with education, particularly college education.

Judge Gorman, a former justice of the Ohio Supreme Court and now a trustee of Ohio State University, said that statisticians have calculated that college and university education is the best investment.

At the Augusta National golf course, Eisenhower may get in a round with Jack Burke Jr., who yesterday won the annual Masters tournament there, and with Ken Venturi, whom Burke defeated by one stroke on the final hole.

This is Eisenhower's 1,176th day in office. Figures the White House has made available show he has spent 455 of those days outside the nation's capital.

EISENHOWER'S various journeys since Jan. 20, 1953, have taken him out of the United States four times. He has criss-crossed this country on business trips, vacations, to fill speaking engagements, and to attend events of other nature.

Seven weeks of his time away from Washington was spent in a Denver hospital recuperating from his heart attack of last Sept. 24. Right after that he convalesced for another 33 days at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. Then he spent 11 days at Key West, Fla., before resuming what he termed "the full duties of the presidency" Jan. 9.

All told during his White House tenure, Eisenhower has made 40 visits, most of them over weekends, to his farm and to Camp David, a mountain retreat near Thurmont, Md.

During 1953, his first year in office, Eisenhower traveled 37,536 miles. He crossed the border into Mexico to help dedicate Falcon Dam, went to Ottawa for conferences with Canadian leaders, and flew to Bermuda for talks with Britain's Sir Winston Churchill and France's Joseph Laniel.

In 1954 the President logged 31,942 miles, all within the United States. Last year the total was 32,835 miles, including 9,571 miles to and from Geneva, Switzerland, for the summit conference with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

So far this year he has traveled 3,290 miles.

Eisenhower's longest stays by far have been his annual visits to Colorado, where he has headquartered at a Denver summer White House and made side trips to Rocky Mountain fishing camps and to other areas.

Prisoners Are Returned Here

Sheriff Orland Hays and Mrs. Hays, a deputy sheriff, returned late Saturday night from a week's trip to Texas and Oklahoma, bringing back three prisoners wanted in the probate court here.

The prisoners were Mrs. Wilma Long, and Mrs. James Neal, both wanted for abandoning their three small children and James Neal, wanted for non-support.

The two women were arrested in San Antonio, on warrants issued here. They came back without the formality of extradition.

Neal was arrested in Oklahoma City, on a warrant issued by the probate court. Extradition was necessary.

All will be arraigned within the next day or two.

Sheriff and Mrs. Hays had some unusual experiences during the trip: They were caught in severe dust storms raging in Oklahoma and Texas at the time; missed two tornadoes, one at Miami, Texas, and the other near Oklahoma City, by a few hours; and were watching the television one night in Oklahoma City when a big plane sheared off the broadcasting tower near that city and crashed, killing several members of the crew.

Also in Oklahoma City, they encountered rainfall of 1.50 inches in 30 minutes—first rain of consequence there since last October.

Otherwise, the trip by automobile was uneventful, Sheriff Hays said.

Glenn E. Payton, 23, headed south on Elm Street at 5 A. M. Sunday, crossed the bridge over Paint Creek, lost control of his car in a snowstorm. The car plunged over the embankment on the west side of the street, went through a fence and landed in a field. He was not injured extensively, but he faces a reckless operation charge.

Isaac S. Stewart was charged with driving while drunk when his car collided with one driven by Wendel Gene Elliott, 20, of Bloomington at Court and Main Streets.

Several minor traffic mishaps occurred, chiefly due to slippery streets.

Ohio GOP Chieftain Gets National Task

National GOP Chairman Leonard Hall said the new committee will meet here April 16-17 for campaign conference.

At bottom, the winner receives a crowning kiss from Sherman Adams, Presidential Assistant.

Several Crashes Over Weekend

Most Of Injuries
Relatively Minor

Several traffic accidents occurred in the city and county Saturday and Sunday, most of them during the series of snow squalls both days.

Saturday at 7:30 P. M. two cars, one driven by Delbert Wayne Rittenhouse, 31, Sabina, and the other by Walter Wilson Jester, 32, Columbus, came together on CCC Highway, four miles west of Washington C. H. and several persons were injured.

Jester was arrested for driving while drunk and his bond was fixed at $500. He was still in jail Monday, following his arrest by Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson, who investigated the wreck and reported Jester was responsible.

Rittenhouse, his wife, Geraldine, 28; Aubrey Manuel, 26, Sabina, and Geraldine Rittenhouse, 30 months old, were painfully injured. Some of them were treated at Memorial Hospital, to which they were taken by the Gerstner ambulance.

At 1:40 P. M. Sunday, two cars, one driven by Arthur R. Davis of Jeffersonville and the other by Norval E. Butcher, of Route 5, collided on Route 35 at the Rothrock farm while Davis was attempting to pass Butcher's car as it was making a left turn in front of the Davis car. Connie Lee Butcher, 3, and Linda Lou, 8, were painfully hurt and Davis sustained an injured knee.

Glenn E. Payton, 23, headed south on Elm Street at 5 A. M. Sunday, crossed the bridge over Paint Creek, lost control of his car in a snowstorm. WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised a battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference committee.

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the conference committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

Compromise Measure Said Not Good One

No Veto Is Specified
As Party Chieftains
Meet With President

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised a battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference committee.

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the conference committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

MARTIN, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Aarons of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2½ hours this morning.

Martin and Knowland said that Eisenhower didn't say specifically whether he would veto the bill if it is accepted by Congress in its present form.

Martin said "a goodly number" of Democrats will support the attempt to return the measure to the conference committee.

Martin said he didn't know whether the GOP could make any headway with 21 Republicans who favor high rigid price supports.

During the Easter recess a Senate-House conference committee worked out a compromise of differing farm proposals. The catch-all bill that emerged was pronounced "unacceptable to me" by Secretary of Agriculture Benson on Saturday after conferring with Eisenhower.

The conferees voted to supplant the administration's present flexible price support program with mandatory supports at 90 per cent of parity, multiple price plans for wheat and rice, mandatory price supports for feed grains, and other features which the President has termed objectionable in the past.

But the bill also includes Eisenhower's own proposal for a "soil bank," under which farmers would receive up to $1.2 billion a year for taking surplus cropland out of production.

Although Eisenhower has taken no formal stand on the compromise bill, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) and others have said it faces a presidential veto unless Congress modifies its proposals to bring them more in line with the principles espoused by the administration.

In advance of the White House conference House GOP leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen the bill is "unsatisfactory as it stands."

House GOP strategy is to send the bill back to the conference group "with instructions."

THAT REQUIRES a majority of the House to vote for a substitute which would be acceptable to the President. Eisenhower said last week he would be satisfied with something less than "perfection."

House procedure allows for only one hour of debate before the vote.

Strengthening expectations of a Republican compromise offer, Aiken told newsmen a substitute "Light be approved" which would provide for price supports at 82½ to 85 per cent of parity in place of rigid 90 per cent supports. Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Rep. Burdick (R-ND), however, predicted "the House will pass the bill and the President will sign it."

His prediction was echoed by Democratic farm leaders in both House and Senate, who said they could muster the vote to pass the bill and send it to Eisenhower on an "all or nothing" basis.

Adlai Kefauvering Through Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is winding up his bid for the backing of his home state for the Democratic presidential nomination with a flurry of Kefauver-style handshaking and some new pot shots at his chief opponent.

Also eyeing later primaries, Stevenson offered to debate issues with Sen. Estes Kefauver in Florida after tomorrow's voting in Illinois. Kefauver promptly accepted the idea, but there was no immediate formal invitation.

The Illinois primary may be a crucial test for Stevenson. He is the state's former governor, the Democratic organization is almost solely behind him, and his is the only name printed on the Democratic preference ballot.

But Kefauver supporters are urging voters to write in the name of the lanky Tennesseean in what they call a "spontaneous" movement. Stevenson himself predicts Kefauver may get a "substantial write-in vote" in Illinois.

Also receiving backing for write-in support is Ohio's five-term governor, Frank J. Lausche. But it has not caused much stir.

EACH PARTY will elect 50 convention delegates tomorrow. A state convention later will choose an additional 28 delegates-at-large, each with one half vote, to make up the remainder of the Democratic 64-vote delegation to the national convention. The Republicans will fill out a 60-vote delegation.

Stevenson yesterday went further in the criticism of Kefauver's voting record in Congress that last week drew charges of "mud slinging" from Kefauver.

"The fact of the matter is that during the 83rd, the last full Congress, the Congressional Quarterly discloses that Sen. Kefauver voted only 59 per cent of the time, whereas the average for all senators was 84 per cent," Stevenson said.

Stevenson called for a big Democratic vote with these words:

"Whether we are going to get a decent farm program out of Washington this year may very well depend on the size of the Democratic vote here in Illinois."

In the Republican primary, President Eisenhower is opposed nominally by Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Chicago chair salesman Lar Daly.

State Treasurer Warren Wright is the only one of four challengers given even a slight chance against Gov. William G. Stratton in the Republican gubernatorial primary.

City Treasurer Morris B. Sachs of Chicago, running independently after the Democratic organization refused him support, is pitted against organization candidate Herbert C. Paschen for the Democratic nominator for governor.

Paschen is Cook County treasurer.

Masked Men Get $100,000 At Cock Fight

STEBENVILLE (AP)—Authorities today were piecing together bits of information in an attempt to solve a holdup by several masked men at a game cock fight. One man was shot and about 100 patrons robbed.

Exact amount of the loot could not be determined, but one estimate placed it at about $100,000.

Sheriff Clarence Eberts said the holdup took place Saturday night in a barn on the farm of Sylvester Frankhauser west of here.

Frankhauser was jailed without formal charge pending further investigation. Cock fighting is illegal in Ohio. Specially trained game cocks, equipped with metal spurs, are pitted against each other as spectators wage on the outcome.

Eberts identified the shooting victim as Harry Hewitt, 57, of Norfolk, Va., who was hit in the left shoulder by a .32 caliber bullet. Hewitt was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The robbery victims had scattered by the time officers reached the farm. But the sheriff said according to bits of information he had been able to pick up this apparently is what happened:

Seven masked men carrying revolvers, machineguns and sawed off shotguns entered the barn and announced a holdup while an undetermined number stayed on the outside as lookouts. The bandits placed a bed sheet in the right ring and told the patrons and those in charge of the fight to toss their jewelry onto the sheet. Some of the robbers went among the crowd taking wallets.

All the bandits wore Army type fatigue clothing. Two of them wore black half masks and the others had green hoods over their heads.

Hewitt was shot by one of the lookouts as he tried to jump through a window.

President Poised For Another Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, leaving today for a week at Augusta, Ga., already has piled up 105,603 miles of travel since taking office.

Figures from White House records indicate he has been away from Washington about 38 per cent of the time.

On this ninth trip to Augusta one of his favorite relaxation spots, Eisenhower plans a week of golf mixed with work. He arranged to fly in his personal plane, Columbin III. The flight takes about 2½ hours.

Symposiarch Officers Named

Education Discussed B Judge R. H. Gorman

Members of the Washington C. H. chapter of Symposiarch today settled down to workday routine following the national convention of the organization here Friday and Saturday.

Highlights of the general convention session at the Country Club Saturday afternoon following a luncheon meeting of the executive board were the election of officers, approval of some revisions in the constitution and by-laws, the creation of a trust fund and adoption of a policy for expanding the present 26-chapter organization.

At the evening meeting that followed the customary banquet, which also was held in the Country Club, the new officers were installed by William Junk of the Washington C. H. chapter and Judge Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati delivered the main address of the convention.

Dr. David L. Beers, a Warren physician, was elected president for the coming year and Karl Stegemeier, an Indianapolis stock and bond broker, was named vice president.

The three new directors named were Morton Johnson of Bellefontaine, Jack Horner of Pittsburgh and William Seibenthaler of Dayton.

Other members of the board are Charles E. Evans of Urbana, O. B. Maxwell of Cincinnati, Marl H. Kennedy of Wheeling, W. Va., and Allen I. Pretzman of Columbus.

Belford F. Carpenter of Washington C. H., the retiring president, automatically became chairman of the board of directors. Pearce Wright of Columbus is the executive secretary.

Colin C. Campbell of the Washington C. H. chapter was the convention secretary and Judge Max G. Dice, president of the Washington C. H. chapter, was the toastmaster at both the Friday night get-together dinner at the Country Club and the Saturday night after dinner program.

INASMUCH AS Symposiarch is made up of members of national college Greek letter fraternities, Judge Gorman tied in much of his talk on "The Visiting Firemen" with education, particularly college education.

Judge Gorman, a former justice of the Ohio Supreme Court and now a trustee of Ohio State University, said that statisticians have calculated that college and university students are the most educated group in the country.

All will be arraigned within the next day or two.

Sheriff and Mrs. Hays had some unusual experiences during the trip: They were caught in severe dust storms raging in Oklahoma and Texas at the time; missed two tornadoes, one at Miami, Texas, and the other near Oklahoma City, by a few hours; and were watching the television one night in Oklahoma City when a big plane sheared off the broadcasting tower near that city and crashed, killing several members of the crew.

Also in Oklahoma City, they encountered rainfall of 1.50 inches in 30 minutes—first rain of consequence there since last October.

Otherwise, the trip by automobile was uneventful, Sheriff Hays said.

At 1:40 P. M. Sunday, two cars, one driven by Arthur R. Davis of Jeffersonville and the other by Norval E. Butcher, of Route 5, collided on Route 35 at the Rothrock farm while Davis was attempting to pass Butcher's car as it was making a left turn in front of the Davis car. Connie Lee Butcher, 3, and Linda Lou, 8, were painfully hurt and Davis sustained an injured knee.

Glenn E. Payton, 23, headed south on Elm Street at 5 A. M. Sunday, crossed the bridge over Paint Creek, lost control of his car in a snowstorm. The car plunged over the embankment on the west side of the street, went through a fence and landed in a field. He was not injured extensively, but he faces a reckless operation charge.

Isaac S. Stewart was charged with driving while drunk when his car collided with one driven by Wendel Gene Elliott, 20, of Bloomington at Court and Main Streets.

Several minor traffic mishaps occurred, chiefly due to slippery streets.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Republican Chairman Ray Bliss of Akron has been named chairman of one of seven new committees to help map out GOP campaign strategy for the November election.

National GOP Chairman Leonard Hall said the new committee will meet here April 16-17 for campaign conference.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told newsmen today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised a battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference committee.

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the conference committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

MARTIN, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Amden of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2½ hours this morning.

Martin and Knowland said that Eisenhower didn't say specifically whether he would veto the bill if it is accepted by Congress in its present form.

Martin said "a goodly number" of Democrats will support the attempt to return the measure to the conference committee.

Martin said he didn't know whether the GOP could make any headway with 21 Republicans who favor high rigid price supports.

During the Easter recess a Senate-House conference committee worked out a compromise of differing farm proposals. The catch-all bill that emerged was pronounced "unacceptable to me" by Secretary of Agriculture Benson on Saturday after conferring with Eisenhower.

The conferees voted to supplant the administration's present flexible price support program with mandatory supports at 90 per cent of parity, multiple price plans for wheat and rice, mandatory price supports for feed grains, and other features which the President has termed objectionable in the past.

But the bill also includes Eisenhower's own proposal for a "soil bank," under which farmers would receive up to $1.2 billion a year for taking surplus cropland out of production.

Although Eisenhower has taken no formal stand on the compromise bill, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) and others have said it faces a presidential veto unless Congress modifies its proposals to bring them more in line with the principles espoused by the administration.

In advance of the White House conference House GOP leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen the bill is "unsatisfactory as it stands."

House GOP strategy is to send the bill back to the conference group "with instructions."

At the Augusta National golf course, Eisenhower may get in a round with Jack Burke Jr., who yesterday won the annual Masters tournament there, and with Ken Venturi, whom Burke defeated by one stroke on the final hole.

This is Eisenhower's 1,176th day in office. Figures the White House has made available show he has spent 455 of those days outside the nation's capital.

EISENHOWER'S various journeys since Jan. 20, 1953, have taken him out of the United States four times. He has criss-crossed this country on business trips, vacations, to fill speaking engagements, and to attend events of other nature.

Seven weeks of his time away from Washington was spent in a Denver hospital recuperating from his heart attack of last Sept. 24. Right after that he convalesced for another 33 days at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. Then he spent 11 days at Key West, Fla., before resuming what he termed "the full duties of the presidency" Jan. 9.

All told during his White House tenure, Eisenhower has made 40 visits, most of them over weekends, to his farm and to Camp David, a mountain retreat near Thurmont, Md.

During 1953, his first year in office, Eisenhower traveled 37,536 miles. He crossed the border into Mexico to help dedicate Falcon Dam, went to Ottawa for conferences with Canadian leaders, and flew to Bermuda for talks with Britain's Sir Winston Churchill and France's Joseph Laniel.

In 1954 the President logged 31,942 miles, all within the United States. Last year the total was 32,835 miles, including 9,571 miles to and from Geneva, Switzerland, for the summit conference with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

So far this year he has traveled 3,290 miles.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH— I am 19, in my fifth year of marriage I had to get married I am not a bad girl. My parents were divorced and I was hungry for love, companionship, faith and understanding. My husband gave me these things.

It was wrong; I know that now; but at the time I felt no shame. I loved him then, and love him even more now. He and our two lovely children deserve someone better than me.

During my first pregnancy I gained 73 pounds, then lost it all the following year, along with my health. I began to feel ashamed of my past. I cried constantly, tried to avoid people I had known before marriage; lied about my age and the wedding date to save face; and turned aside if I saw anyone I knew. My memory blurred; I didn't know what I was doing much of the time.

Also I started to eat whenever I had a problem, big or small. Every morning I'd vow to diet, but by night (or after a few days) I'd be gorging again. Food has become to me what alcohol is to an alcoholic. Day and night all I think of is food; it has become an obsession. I've reached a point where I must do something; I don't want to live if I can't master this.

I've become sluggish, lazy, tired all the time. My temper is short and the children suffer. I am unhappy, in mental anguish, and the worst is that I have lost faith in God.

K. R.

DEAR K. R.: It occurs to me that your problem is psychosomatic. That is, it consists of a mixture of neurotic and physical ailments with the one aspect aggravating the other, thus making a vicious circle of worsening distress.

I think you should check and doublecheck this possibility, and pursue the search indefatigably, until you have positive clues to the cause and cure of your obsessive preoccupation with eating and the emotional depression that surrounds it.

You write from a city that is moderately well supplied with progressive medical care. Also your fluent letter shows basic intelligence, even though you lack insight and understanding as regards your specific trials. So I am sure you have adequate resources, in yourself and in the community, to bring the problem under control.

To give you some idea of what to look for, diagnostically, I suggest you read these two books: "Body, Mind & Soul" (Holt publishers) by Dr. E. M. Abrahamson and A. W. Pezet. And "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace publishers) by Adelle Davis.

Just for good measure, you

State School Chief To Be Chosen Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—President Robert A. Manchester of the state board of education says selection of a new state school superintendent may be made by June.

Manchester said about 70 letters have gone out to prospective candidates for the $20,000 a year job. Each person has been asked to send biographical data to the board. A list of "finalists" may be drawn up by the June meeting of the board, he said.

The board holds its April meeting tonight. Major business expected to be brought up, Manchester said, include:

Further action on a research program to determine school needs.

Final action on a board-approved contract with a Cleveland firm for research into the question: What can be done to meet the cost of school needs.

A report on possible establishment of a statewide elementary school standards.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

China is always a fascinating country for children. This year proved to be no exception for the fourth graders in the Sunnyside School taught by Mrs. Olive Prosch.

After reading about the children of China in their geography books the class wanted to know more about that country.

With a bookshelf full of supplementary geography including some new ones added this year, three sets of encyclopedias, and some National Geographic Magazines as a source of material the children chose some subjects they wanted to study and report on in class.

Some also used books at home while others went to the Public Library. A set of twelve volumes "The New Wonder Books" that was added to the room library this year was a favorite.

Richard Riegel, John Wood and Bobby Jones chose the topic "History and Government of China" (quite an assignment for fourth graders.) Richard gave an account of China's early culture listing it by dynasties, giving the dates and the most important event of each.

John continued the history up to the present sad state of China. Bobby gave a good condensation of the forming of the Republic and its civil wars and the granting of land to foreign countries. Both John and Bobby told of the Communists gaining control of the mainland and of Chiang Kai Shek and the Nationalists being forced to the island of Formosa. These reports were excellent.

Size, population, and surface were topics given by Peggy Stern, Sandy Morris, and Brenda Sward. They used a good relief map of China to illustrate. Industries of China was very capably presented by Patty Seymour. Judy Edgington and Anita Hurlt chose the topic of farming. They had some good colored pictures of the terraced hillsides.

Tea was the subject Mike Woods, Hugh Morris, and Donnie Wilson studied. They pointed out that the difference in green and black tea is due to the curing. They drew a large picture of the tea shrub for their report.

Dan Clift and Charles Hall explored the subject of climate. Dan, who acted as spokesman, said that China has the same seasons we have and then told of variations and extremes of heat and cold and of the rainfall.

Steven Anders Darrell Hixon, and Ronnie Kinzer selected rice as their subject. There was an abundance of material on this. They gave very good reports on the planting growing, and harvesting of the grain as well as the processing and the use made of the rice.

Silk was another study. It was made by Penny Palmer, Vicki Del Ponte, and Donna Schneider. The raising of the silk worms in the homes, manufacture of the silk in factories, and the marketing were told by these girls.

The clothing of the people of China was described by Gladys Spettigue and Mary Kilgore. Cotton is the cloth used by the common people. It is made double and padded for cold weather. Silk is worn only by the wealthy.

Billy Naylor, Ronnie Mayer, and Craig Kneisley wanted The Great Wall for their subject. They told why and how it was built, the size of it and what the wall is like today. Brenda Burkett, Vicki James, and Connie Ellars described the homes of the wealthy Chinese and the farmers' villages.

The topic of cities was given by Bobby Keller and Patricia Woods. They gave an interesting account of the larger cities and explained that some of the coast cities had sections which were modern.

Mark Frederick, Richard Reed, and Everett Bowers told about the rivers of China. They told of their usefulness and of floods. Don Cox and Jerry Stewart made reports on transportation. The rickshas, junks, and sampans were especially interesting.

Susan Reno gave a report on Religion and Education. "China has all of the important religions of the world, but none of its own," she told the class.

Nearly all of the children used pictures to supplement their talks. Anita Hurlt brought a set of miniature idols called Gods of Fortune to show the class. Charles Hall brought two pairs of chopsticks. One pair was for children's use and one was for adults.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tired of commuting? So is Dr. Caleb Davidson 49, a dentist from Placer, Calif.

He drives 860 miles roundtrip each week from his home to the University of Southern California where he is taking a postgraduate course in orthodontics. He leaves school Friday night, spends a day and a half with his family and then hits the road again.

So far he has worn out one car. He estimates that when the 16-month course ends in June he will have traveled the equivalent of three times around the world.

4-H Club Activities

AMBITIOUS FARMERS

A campaign of silence is under way among members of the Ambitious Farmers 4-H club, with the dual aim of keeping meetings orderly and maybe building the treasury a little.

If a club member is caught talking out of turn from now on, she's required to pay a five-cent fine into the club till "Watchdogs" will be appointed at each meeting to keep their eyes peeled for wayward chatterers and levy the fines.

The practice was agreed upon by members at their regular meeting Friday night at Jeffersonville High School.

A program committee for the coming year was appointed at the same session. Members are Pauline Davis, Lena McCluskie and Mary Ann Creamer.

Club officers were reminded at the session of the forthcoming of officers and advisors conference, set for Monday at the Farm Bureau here.

A county-wide 4-H party will be held May 5, it was announced at the meeting, and plans are underway for National 4-H Sunday May 6. Members were requested to participate in both, if possible.

Refreshments were served at the meeting by Mrs. Herbert Garringer, Mrs. Gene Avey and Patty Sears.

Next meeting is set for April 20. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Alfred Davis, Mrs. Leola McCluskie and Mrs. Frank Bower master.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH— I am 19, in my fifth year of marriage I had to get married I am not a bad girl. My parents were divorced and I was hungry for love, companionship, faith and understanding. My husband gave me these things.

It was wrong; I know that now; but at the time I felt no shame. I loved him then, and love him even more now. He and our two lovely children deserve someone better than me.

During my first pregnancy I gained 73 pounds, then lost it all the following year, along with my health. I began to feel ashamed of my past. I cried constantly, tried to avoid people I had known before marriage; lied about my age and the wedding date to save face; and turned aside if I saw anyone I knew. My memory blurred; I didn't know what I was doing much of the time.

Also I started to eat whenever I had a problem, big or small. Every morning I'd vow to diet, but by night (or after a few days) I'd be going again. Food has become to me what alcohol is to an alcoholic. Day and night all I think of is food; it has become an obsession. I've reached a point where I must do something; I don't want to live if I can't master this.

I've become sluggish, lazy, tired all the time. My temper is short and the children suffer. I am unhappy, in mental anguish; and the worst is that I have lost faith in God.

K. R.

DEAR K. R.: It occurs to me that your problem is psychosomatic. That is, it consists of a mixture of neurotic and physical ailments, with the one aspect aggravating the other, thus making a vicious circle of worsening distress.

I think you should check and doublecheck this possibility, and pursue the search indefatigably, until you have positive clues to the cause and cure of your obsessive preoccupation with eating and the emotional depression that surrounds it.

You write from a city that is moderately well supplied with progressive medical care. Also your fluent letter shows basic intelligence, even though you lack insight and understanding as regards your specific trials. So I am sure you have adequate resources, in yourself and in the community, to bring the problem under control.

To give you some idea of what to look for, diagnostically, I suggest you read these two books: "Body, Mind & Sugar" (Holt publishers) by Dr. E. M. Abrahamson and A. W. Pezet, and "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace publishers) by Adelle Davis.

Just for good measure, you

State School Chief To Be Chosen Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—President Robert A. Manchester of the state board of education says selection of a new state school superintendent may be made by June.

Manchester said about 70 letters have gone out to prospective candidates for the $20,000 a year job. Each person has been asked to send biographical data to the board. A list of "finalists" may be drawn up by the June meeting of the board, he said.

The board holds its April meeting tonight. Major business expected to be brought up, Manchester said, include:

Further action on a research program to determine school needs.

Final action on a board-approved contract with a Cleveland firm for research into the question: What can be done to meet the cost of school needs.

A report on possible establishment of statewide elementary school standards.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

China is always a fascinating country for children. This year proved to be no exception for the fourth graders in the Sunnyside School taught by Mrs. Olive Prosch.

After reading about the children of China in their geography books the class wanted to know more about that country.

With a bookshelf full of supplementary geographies including some new ones added this year, three sets of encyclopedias, and some National Geographic Magazines as a source of material the children chose some subjects they wanted to study and report on in class.

Some also used books at home while others went to the Public Library. A set of twelve volumes "The New Wonder Books" that was added to the room library this year was a favorite.

Richard Riegel, John Wood and Bobby Jones chose the topic "History and Government of China" (quite an assignment for fourth graders.) Richard gave an account of China's early culture listing it by dynasties, giving the dates and the most important event of each.

John continued the history up to the present sad state of China. Bobby gave a good condensation of the forming of the Republic and its civil wars and the granting of land to foreign countries. Both John and Bobby told of the Communists gaining control of the mainland and of Chiang Kai Shek and the Nationalists being forced to the island of Formosa. These reports were excellent.

Size, population, and surface were topics given by Peggy Stern, Sandy Morris, and Brenda Sword. They used a good relief map of China to illustrate. Industries of China was very capably presented by Patty Seymour. Judy Edgington and Anita Hurlt chose the topic of farming. They had some good colored pictures of the terraced hillsides.

Tea was the subject Mike Woods, Hugh Morris, and Donnie Wilson studied. They pointed out that the difference in green and black tea is due to the curing. They drew a large picture of the tea shrub for their report.

Dan Clift and Charles Hall explored the subject of climate. Dan, who acted as spokesman, said that China has the same seasons we have and then told of variations and extremes of heat and cold and of the rainfall.

Steven Anders Darrell Hixon, and Ronnie Kinzer selected rice as their subject. There was an abundance of material on this. They gave very good reports on the planting growing, and harvesting of the grain as well as the processing and the use made of the rice.

Silk was another study. It was made by Penny Palmer, Vicki Del Ponte, and Donna Schneider. The raising of the silk worms in the homes, manufacture of the silk in factories, and the marketing were told by these girls.

The clothing of the people of China was described by Gladys Spettigue and Mary Kilgore. Cotton is the cloth used by the common people. It is made double and padded for cold weather. Silk is worn only by the wealthy.

Billy Naylor, Ronnie Mayer, and Craig Kneisley wanted The Great Wall for their subject. They told why and how it was built, the size of it and what the wall is like today. Brenda Burkett, Vicki James, and Connie Ellars described the homes of the wealthy Chinese and the farmers' villages.

The topic of cities was given by Bobby Keller and Patricia Woods. They gave an interesting account of the larger cities and explained that some of the coast cities had sections which were modern.

Mark Frederick, Richard Reed, and Everett Bowers told about the rivers of China. They told of their usefulness and of floods. Don Cox and Jerry Stewart made reports on transportation. The rickshas, junks, and sampans were especially interesting.

Susan Reno gave a report on Religion and Education. "China has all of the important religions of the world, but none of its own," she told the class.

Nearly all of the children used pictures to supplement their talks. Anita Hurlt brought a set of miniature idols called Gods of Fortune to show the class. Charles Hall brought two pairs of chopsticks. One pair was for children's use and one was for adults.

AMBITIOUS FARMERS

A campaign of silence is under way among members of the Ambitious Farmers 4-H club, with the dual aim of keeping meetings orderly and maybe building the treasury a little.

If a club member is caught talking out of turn from now on, she's required to pay a five-cent fine into the club till "Watchdogs" will be appointed at each meeting to keep their eyes peeled for wayward chatters and levy the fines.

The practice was agreed upon by members at their regular meeting Friday night at Jeffersonville High School.

A program committee for the coming year was appointed at the same session. Members are Pauline Davis, Lena McClaskie and Mary Ann Creamer.

Club officers were reminded at the session of the forthcoming officers and advisors conference, set for Monday at the Farm Bureau here.

A county-wide 4-H party will be held May 5, it was announced at the meeting, and plans are underway for National 4-H Sunday May 6. Members were requested to participate in both, if possible.

Refreshments were served at the meeting by Mrs. Herbert Garringer, Mrs. Gene Avey and Patty Sears.

Next meeting is set for April 20. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Alfred Davis, Mrs. Leola McClaskie and Mrs. Frank Bowermaster.

STANTON STITCH & STIR
Members of the Stanton Stitch & Stir 4-H Club selected projects to work on during the coming month at their meeting in the Stanton School April 3.

Donna Reisinger selected sewing. Karen Sue Haines, baking and sewing. Mary Fowler, baking, Patty Lou Haines, baking and sewing.

Karen Sue Wilson, baking and sewing. Blanch Yahn, sewing and Mary Ann Dewey, sewing.

It May Influence Our Own Boys And Girls

There are many people in Fayette County who will regard this week of April 9th through the 15th as being a vitally important period.

It is because this is to be known as National Sunday School Week, the annual event for all faiths to observe.

The Laymen's National Committee has asked that we dedicate this week to young Americans so that we may help them through religious training in their respective faiths.

We know today that every child needs religion. If parents lament over the way their young people act, should they not ask themselves whether they offered young Johnnie and his little sister Mary a proper chance to learn through their Sunday School teachings the right way of life, and the one that will show them a guide to a better world.

It is here in our country, founded on the freedom of worship, that many thoughtful and kind men and women devote much of their time to religious teachings, and many lay people gladly offer their services to Sunday Schools in order that the young people of all faiths may discover the importance of religion; and that adults may rediscover it.

Fayette County has as much of a stake in this periodical event as any other locality. Who knows but that some boy or girl, or man or woman, among us may be so impressed with what is learned from his or her religious instruction that when placed in an important position of responsibility some day early religious training may be the influence which will bring a decision which could affect every one of us.

Responsibility of President

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the 170 million Americans do not quite realize that one man among them can by one word plunge them all into war.

The word is "Attack!" The one man who can lawfully say the word is the President of the United States.

The power of the President as commander in chief of the nation's armed forces is sometimes forgotten or overlooked by the voters who elect a President.

The U. S. Senate may have to approve a foreign treaty to make it legal, and only Congress can declare war. But it is the President who can order at any time when the Navy, the Army or the Air Force should go into action on an emergency basis. This means you can have a war before it's voted.

All big wars usually start from military pimples. There is a border. Each side complains the other violates the border. There is a period of mutual blame and mutual hollers of innocence. It's the other fellow who is wrong.

Finally one of the fellows crosses the border in real power and doesn't stop. The reaction has to come, at once, or later, when he is stretched out and more vulnerable. But he has lit a small match and set a big world on fire, and in time the flames at great cost will consume him, his empire and his dreams. Sometimes even his relatives.

This is the history of war. No man in history could be more aware of the effect of a military decision than a former artillery captain called Harry Truman who made the greatest single military decision in the long story of the human race.

In the year 1945 by his order an atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima on Aug. 6 and another was exploded over Nagasaki on Aug. 9.

The immortal statistics remain. Without the shedding of one more drop of American blood a stunned Japan, then an enemy, ceased fighting.

No other man since the morning of time had shouldered the responsibility of creating so many deaths in two crisis days.

As architect of the first entrance of American arms into Korea, Truman first won U. S. and then half the world's applause. But, though Congress quickly backed him up, it was he alone who said when the first planes should fly.

The other night, in addressing the Overseas Press Club here, Truman made an interesting off-the-cuff addition to his prepared text.

"Only the President of the United States," he said, "can give us the facts about foreign policy because the President of the United States makes the foreign policy and no one else does."

While such a remark has current political overtones, of course, and reflects perhaps what his critics often say is a tendency by Truman toward overstatement, the stern truth is that the authority of an American President in a real emergency cannot easily be questioned.

While we have the Congress and the courts, too, it is the President who is the chief delegated leader of the United States. It is he who, in a hurry, can order the Navy to sail, the Marines to land, the Army to march, the Air Force to fly and bomb.

Many Americans are unaware of the full national power and world prestige of the presidency, the tremendous dignity of the office, the critical role a White House decision can at any moment play in their own lives.

But it is important that they should know.

The Harry Dexter White Story

By George Sokolsky

Just as the Burgess and McLean espionage cases will not die down in Great Britain, so does the Harry Dexter White espionage case stay alive in the United States. The fact that Laughlin Currie, formerly administrative assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has lost his American citizenship, makes one think of White because Currie was one of the select group of White's friends and associates who met at the Athens Cafe in Washington on May 11 (no year given). The list was found among Harry Dexter White's papers with the following names:

Mr. Appleby, Exec. offices, Mr. C. B. Baldwin, Mr. Oscar Chapman, Interior (he will invite Mr. Fortas and Mr. Mike Straus), Mr. Ben Cohen, White House, Mr. Oscar Cox, FEA, Dr. I. B. Currie, White House, Dr. Ezekiel, Agri., Mr. Murray Latimer, Dr. Lubin, White House, Mr. David Niles, White House, Mr. Randolph Paul, Mr. Milo Perkins, Mr. Pritchard, N.W.A., Mr. Aubrey Williams, Mr. Fortas, Interior (under secy.), Mr. Jonathan Daniels, White House, Mr. James Rowe, (?) Mr. Wayne Coy, Budget Bur., (?) Mr. Leon Henderson, (?) Major Kades, Mr. Michael Straus, 1st asst. secy., Interior.

It has now been made public, along with other documents, by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. A trying volume to read, because it is only a compilation of documents from which it is impossible to draw any conclusions, it is nevertheless important because just as the British have suddenly realized the dangers of espionage by British officials in the interest of Soviet Russia, so here in this country, despite the work of various Congressional committees, the FBI, the Department of Justice and other agencies, the surface has not yet been scratched and we are not yet in a position to define in unmistakable terms, which will hold up in any court, what is a spy, what is a subversive, who is just a fool who is a fighter for a strict interpretation of individual rights according to the Constitution.

Take this list, for instance. It includes more non-communists than communists and precisely what does it prove that Harry Dexter White arranged for them to dine at this rather obscure restaurant on a day in May? What did they talk about?

However, when we look at the record, we find some curious relationships. Paul Appleby, for instance, is now associated with Governor Harriman in New York State, in charge of the budget. In 1946, Appleby was reported to have said:

"A man in the employ of the government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist Party as he has to be a member of the Democratic or Republican Party."

In 1953, he explained this away, as follows:

"The real character of the Communist Party greatly differentiating it from our conventional parties had not then been revealed."

But that is nonsense. Mr. Appleby must have read or heard something about the Russian Revolution by the year 1946. He must have read or heard something about the Soviet form of government, the one-party system, the power of the Politburo, the authority of Stalin. He could not have achieved the important position of under secretary of Agriculture and be as ignorant as he claimed to be of one of the most important movements in the history of our generation. I know nothing about Paul Appleby's relationship to the Communist Party, one way or the other, but it is fairly clear from his statements and from a memorandum dated March 23, 1944, in which he recommends Nathan Gregory Silvermaster for his loyalty and good citizenship, that Harry Dexter White knew how to use highly placed friends and that Appleby did not know how to resist such men as White, Laughlin Currie or Alger Hiss who wanted to designate Appleby as assistant secretary general of the United Nations.

For all we know, this party at the Athens Cafe might have been nothing more important than a sorority meeting in a girl's high school, but then in the development of the Washington Bureaucracy, these were important persons who held key positions in many departments and who were able to influence the decisions of those above them. It would be of public value if one of the persons on this list came forward with a picture of what these number two men in government were doing under the leadership of Harry Dexter White. Perhaps they will say that they were only appraising the difference between vodka and slivovitz.

Prompt Care Vital In Retinal Damage

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Prompt diagnosis and treatment are essential in treating retinal detachment, an uncommon but serious eye ailment.

Early diagnosis, however, sometimes is very difficult. For that reason it is probably a good idea to know some of the symptoms and what should be done at the onset.

Extremely nearsighted persons seem particularly susceptible to retinal detachment. Although it never spreads from one eye to the other, it frequently attacks both at one time.

Black Spots

It begins with pain. You may see a shower of black spots before one eye or sudden light flashes. After that you might lose part of your visual field. It will probably seem like a gray cloud has dropped in front of your eye.

Blurred vision and a hemorrhage in the vitreous cavity may also be symptoms of retinal detachment.

Some cases of detachment are caused by tumors or active uveitis, an eye disease. In these instances, the retina or backscreen of your eye, is simply torn loose from the choroid.

In other cases, however, there is an actual break in the continuity of the retina, possibly from an eye injury that has been suffered. Anyone experiencing any of these symptoms should consult an eye specialist immediately. If no expert help is available, he should go to bed at once and stay there.

It's probably best to bandage both eyes or to wear pinhole glasses until help is obtained.

Permanent Cure

Operations, if performed promptly, are successful in most cases. But the longer you wait, the less chance you have for permanent cure.

For example, should the macula—the little yellow spot in the middle of the retina—become detached and remain detached for a week or so, your vision is likely to be impaired even if surgery reattachment is performed. You can see the need for immediate action if you want to keep your sight.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. W. E.: Is there such a thing as a false pregnancy?

Answer: Yes, Sometimes, due to psychological needs, a woman may simulate all the signs and symptoms of a pregnancy even though she may not be pregnant. These women may even convince their physicians that they are pregnant.

It May Influence Our Own Boys And Girls

There are many people in Fayette County who will regard this week of April 9th through the 15th as being a vitally important period.

It is because this is to be known as National Sunday School Week, the annual event for all faiths to observe.

The Laymen's National Committee has asked that we dedicate this week to young Americans so that we may help them through religious training in their respective faiths.

We know today that every child needs religion. If parents lament over the way their young people act, should they not ask themselves whether they offered young Johnnie and his little sister Mary a proper chance to learn through their Sunday School teachings the right way of life, and the one that will show them a guide to a better world.

It is here in our country, founded on the freedom of worship, that many thoughtful and kind men and women devote much of their time to religious teachings, and many lay people gladly offer their services to Sunday Schools in order that the young people of all faiths may discover the importance of religion; and that adults may rediscover it.

Fayette County has as much of a stake in this periodical event as any other locality. Who knows but that some boy or girl, or man or woman, among us may be so impressed with what is learned from his or her religious instruction that when placed in an important position of responsibility some day early religious training may be the influence which will bring a decision which could affect every one of us.

Responsibility of President

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the 170 million Americans do not quite realize that one man among them can by one word plunge them all into war.

The word is "Attack!" The one man who can lawfully say the word is the President of the United States.

The power of the President as commander in chief of the nation's armed forces is sometimes forgotten or overlooked by the voters who elect a President.

The U. S. Senate may have to approve a foreign treaty to make it legal, and only Congress can declare war. But it is the President who can order at any time when the Navy, the Army or the Air Force should go into action on an emergency basis. This means you can have a war before it's voted.

All big wars usually start from military pimples. There is a border. Each side complains the other violates the border. There is a period of mutual blame and mutual hollers of innocence. It's the other fellow who is wrong.

Finally one of the fellows crosses the border in real power and doesn't stop. The reaction has to come, at once, or later, when he is stretched out and more vulnerable. But he has lit a small match and set a big world on fire, and in time the flames at great cost will consume him, his empire and his dreams. Sometimes even his relatives.

This is the history of war. No man in history could be more aware of the effect of a military decision than a former artillery captain called Harry Truman who made the greatest single military decision in the long story of the human race.

In the year 1945 by his orders an atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima on Aug. 6 and, another was exploded over Nagasaki on Aug. 9.

The immortal statistics remain. Without the shedding of one more drop of American blood a stunned Japan, then an enemy, ceased fighting.

No other man since the morning of time had shouldered the responsibility of creating so many deaths in two crisp days.

As architect of the first entrance of American arms into Korea, Truman first won U. S. and then half the world's applause. But, though Congress quickly backed him up, it was alone who said when the first planes should fly.

The other night, in addressing the Overseas Press Club here, Truman made an interesting off-the-cuff addition to his prepared text.

"Only the President of the United States," he said, "can give us the facts about foreign policy because the President of the United States makes the foreign policy and no one else does."

While such a remark has current political overtones, of course, and reflects perhaps what his critics often say is a tendency by Truman toward overstatement, the stern truth is that the authority of an American President in a real emergency cannot easily be checked.

While we have the Congress and the courts, too, it is the President who is the chief delegated leader of the United States. It is he who, in a hurry, can order the Navy to sail, the Marines to land, the Army to march, the Air Force to fly and bomb.

Many Americans are unaware of the full national power and world prestige of the presidency, the tremendous dignity of the office, the critical role a White House decision can at any moment play in their own lives.

But it is important that they should know.

The Harry Dexter White Story

By George Sokolsky

Just as the Burgess and McLean espionage cases will not die down in Great Britain, so does the Harry Dexter White espionage case stay alive in the United States. The fact that Lauchlin Currie, formerly administrative assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has lost his American citizenship, makes one think of White because Currie was one of the select group of White's friends and associates who met at the Athens Cafe in Washington on May 11 (no year given). The list was found among Harry Dexter White's papers with the following names:

Mr. Appleby, Exec. offices. Mr. C. B. Baldwin, Mr. Oscar Chapman, Interior (he will invite Mr. Fortas and Mr. Mike Straus), Mr. Ben Cohen, White House, Mr. Oscar Cox, FEA, Dr. L. B. Currie, White House, Dr. Ezekiel, Agri., Mr. Murray Latimer, Dr. Lubin, White House, Mr. David Niles, White House, Mr. Randolph Paul, Mr. Milo Perkins, Mr. Pritchard, N.W.A., Mr. Aubrey Williams, Mr. Fortas, Interior (under secy.), Mr. Jonathan Daniels, White House, Mr. James Rowe, (?) Mr. Wayne Coy, Budget Bur., (?) Mr. Leon Henderson, (?) Major Kades, Mr. Michael Straus, 1st asst. secy., Interior.

It has now been made public, along with other documents, by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. A trying volume to read, because it is only a compilation of documents from which it is impossible to draw any conclusions, it is nevertheless important because just as the British have suddenly realized the dangers of espionage by British officials in the interest of Soviet Russia, so here in this country, despite the work of various Congressional committees the FBI, the Department of Justice and other agencies the surface has not yet been scratched and we are not yet in a position to define in unmistakable terms, which will hold up in any court, what is a spy, what is a subversive, who is just a fool who is a fighter for a strict interpretation of individual rights according to the Constitution.

Take this list, for instance. It includes more non-communists than communists and precisely what does it prove that Harry Dexter White arranged for them to dine at this rather obscure restaurant on a day in May? What did they talk about?

However, when we look at the record, we find some curious relationships. Paul Appleby, for instance, is now associated with Governor Harriman in New York State, in charge of the budget. In 1946, Appleby was reported to have said:

"A man in the employ of the government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist Party as he has to be a member of the Democratic or Republican Party."

In 1953, he explained this away, as follows:

"The real character of the Communist Party greatly differentiating it from our conventional parties had not then been revealed."

But that is nonsense. Mr. Appleby must have read or heard something about the Russian Revolution by the year 1946. He must have read or heard something about the Soviet form of government, the one-party system, the power of the Politburo, the authority of Stalin. He could not have achieved the important position of under secretary of Agriculture and be as ignorant as he claimed to be of one of the most important movements in the history of our generation. I know nothing about Paul Appleby's relationship to the Communist Party, one way or the other, but it is fairly clear from his statements and from a memorandum dated March 23, 1944, in which he recommends Nathan Gregory Silvermaster for his loyalty and good citizenship, that Harry Dexter White knew how to use highly placed friends and that Appleby did not know how to resist such men as White, Lauchlin Currie or Alger Hiss who wanted to designate Appleby as assistant secretary general of the United Nations.

For all we know, this party at the Athens Cafe might have been nothing more important than a sorority meeting in a girl's high school, but then in the development of the Washington Bureaucracy, these were important persons who held key positions in many departments and who were able to influence the decisions of those above them. It would be of public value if one of the persons on this list came forward with a picture of what these numerous men in government were doing under the leadership of Harry Dexter White. Perhaps they will say that they were only appraising the difference between vodka and silovitz.

Prompt Care Vital
In Retinal Damage

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Prompt diagnosis and treatment are essential in treating retinal detachment, an uncommon, but serious eye ailment.

Early diagnosis, however, sometimes is very difficult. For that reason it is probably a good idea to know some of the symptoms and what should be done at the onset.

Extremely nearsighted persons seem particularly susceptible to retinal detachment. Although it never spreads from one eye to the other, it frequently attacks both at one time.

Black Spots

It begins with pain. You may see a shower of black spots before one eye or sudden light flashes. After that you might lose part of your visual field. It will probably seem like a gray cloud has dropped in front of your eye.

Blurred vision and a hemorrhage in the vitreous cavity may also be symptoms of retinal detachment.

Some cases of detachment are caused by tumors or active uveitis, an eye disease. In these instances, the retina or backscreen of your eye, is simply torn loose from the choroid.

In other cases, however, there is an actual break in the continuity of the retina, possibly from an eye injury that has been suffered. Anyone experiencing any of these symptoms should consult an eye specialist immediately. If no expert help is available, he should go to bed at once and stay there.

It's probably best to bandage both eyes or to wear pinhole glasses until help is obtained.

Permanent Cure

Operations, if performed promptly, are successful in most cases. But the longer you wait, the less chance you have for permanent cure.

For example, should the macula—the little yellow spot in the middle of the retina—become detached and remain detached for a week or so, your vision is likely to be permanently impaired.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Juvenile authorities today held a nine-year-old boy whom sheriff's deputies said set fires in six suburban apartment buildings.

Sheriff's investigator James Potts said the boy admitted setting the fires but could give no reason for his action.

Frank Douglas, assistant rental manager of the Westgate Manor development, said damage to the six apartment units was slight. Sixty-six families live in the building.

Late Afternoon Wedding Unites Couple In Marriage

First Presbyterian Church was the scene of a beautiful late afternoon wedding on Saturday April 7, when Miss Mary Louise Biehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Borden Biehn, of the Greenfield Road, became the bride of Mr. Gordon Fredrick Eldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Eldridge of Columbus.

The double ring ceremony was read as the hands of the clock approached five, by Rev. Harold J. Braden, pastor of the church and Rev. Raymond Hibbard, pastor of the North Broadway Methodist Church of Columbus.

Cathedral vases of spring flowers in pastel colors, with greenery flanked with four tier candelabra, holding pastel green tapers shed a soft light on the white satin kneeling bench. Sprays of daisies tied with pastel bows marked the family pews and candles entwined with fern in the church windows completed the decorations in the church.

The ceremony was preceded with a half hour of nuptial music presented by Mr. James Michael, soloist and Mrs. Marion Gage organist. Mr. Michael's songs included: "I Love You Truly", "Because", "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony Mrs. Gage's selections were "Calatene Nuptiale", "Andante Cantabile", "And This Is My Beloved", "Lied", "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" and the Wedding Marches.

Miss Biehn was attended by her sister, Mrs. Omar Schwartz, as matron of honor, Miss Dinah Davis, a sorority sister, and Miss Roberta Theobald, a roommate, as bridesmaids; and little Miss Nancy Schwartz, niece of the bride, as flower girl.

Mr. Jay Eldridge, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom were: Mr. James Raullette of Cleveland, Mr. Matt Miller of Columbus, James Battles of Silver Springs, Maryland and Mr. John Filkins Nauff of Dayton.

The lovely brunette bride given in marriage by her parents, chose for her wedding an ivory satin gown, floor length with a bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves, a very full skirt worn over an old fashioned hoop. Her veil, fingertip length of nylon net, was caught to a crown of beads and seed pearls and she carried a loose bouquet of eucharist lilies and lilies of the valley centered with a purple throated white hybrid orchid.

She carried a handkerchief which belonged to her great-grandmother, as something old and wore the traditional Kappa Alpha Theta garter.

The matron of honor wore a pale yellow gown, waltz length fashioned along the same lines of the bride's with matching mitts and her head band of old fashioned daisies were identical to those in her loose bouquet, tied with yellow ribbon.

Mrs. Biehn received the guests in a two piece afternoon dress of beige silk shantung, a matching jeweled pill box hat, other accessories in brown shades and Mrs. Eldridge was wearing a turquoise and white print afternoon dress, with the lining of her coat matching the print in her dress, with accessories in patent leather. ## Late Afternoon Wedding Unites Couple In Marriage

First Presbyterian Church was the scene of a beautiful late afternoon wedding on Saturday April 7, when Miss Mary Louise Biehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Borden Biehn, of the Greenfield Road, became the bride of Mr. Gordon Frederick Eldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Eldridge of Columbus.

The double ring ceremony was read as the hands of the clock approached five, by Rev. Harold J. Braden, pastor of the church and Rev. Raymond Hibbard, pastor of the North Broadway Methodist Church of Columbus.

Cathedral vases of spring flowers in pastel colors, with greenery flanked with four tier candelabra holding pastel green tapers shed a soft light on the white satin kneeling bench. Sprays of daisies tied with pastel bows marked the family pews and candles entwined with fern in the church windows completed the decorations in the church.

The ceremony was preceded with a half hour of nuptial music presented by Mr. James Michael, soloist and Mrs. Marion Gage organist. Mr. Michael's songs included: "I Love You Truly", "Because", "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony Mrs. Gage's selections were "Calatene Nuptiale", "Andante Cantabile", "And This Is My Beloved", "Lied", "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" and the Wedding Marches.

Miss Biehn was attended by her sister, Mrs. Omar Schwartz, as matron of honor, Miss Dinah Davis, a sorority sister, and Miss Roberta Theobald, a roommate, as bridesmaids and little Miss Nancy Schwartz, niece of the bride, as flower girl.

Mr. Jay Eldridge, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom were: Mr. James Raulette of Cleveland Mr. Matt Miller of Columbus, James Battles of Silver Springs, Maryland and Mr. John Filkins Nauff of Dayton.

The lovely brunette bride given in marriage by her parents, chose for her wedding an ivory satin gown, floor length with a bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves, a very full skirt worn over an old fashioned hoop. Her veil, fingertip length of nylon net, was caught to a crown of beads and seed pearls and she carried a loose bouquet of eucharist lilies and lilies of the valley centered with a purple throated white hybrid orchid.

She carried a handkerchief which belonged to her great-grandmother, as something old and wore the traditional Kappa Alpha Theta garter.

The matron of honor wore a pale yellow gown, waltz length fashion, ed along the same lines of the bride's with matching mitts and her head band of old fashioned daisies were identical to those in her loose bouquet, tied with yellow ribbon.

The bridesmaids' gowns were also styled the same as the honor attendant in pastel green, with matching mitts and their flowers were headbands of daisies, also loose bouquets of daisies tied with green ribbon.

The flower girl was dressed cunningly in a white organdy floor length dress over pale green taffeta with a green sash, a daisy head piece and carried daisy petals in a basket decorated with a daisy corsage.

Following the wedding the bride's parents entertained at a reception in Westminster Hall at the church.

Mrs. Biehn received the guests in a two piece afternoon dress of beige silk shantung, a matching jeweled pill box hat, other accessories in brown shades and Mrs. Eldridge was wearing a turquoise and white print afternoon dress, with the lining of her coat matching the print in her dress, with accessories in patent leather. Both mothers had single orchid corsages.

Hostesses for the reception were Miss Marjorie Hunter of Millersburg Miss Marilyn Wilson of Lancaster, Mrs. Ben Thomas of Columbus, all former room mates at Ohio State University, Miss Carmelita Rose, Miss Nancy Kupper of Columbus, sorority sisters, Mrs. John F. After a few days wedding trip the new Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge will reside at 22 East Woodruff Avenue, Apt. 1, in Columbus.

The bride, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School, is a senior student in the College of Nursing at Ohio State University where she is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

U. S. Planes

The C124 Globemasters are probably the most impressive cargo carriers of the whole fantastic transportation system. Globemasters of the 18th Air Force, assigned the job of hauling heavy equipment, have accumulated thousands of flying hours shuttling between the United States and Dewline.

The arctic cold is both a hindrance and help. It imposes almost intolerable pressures on crews who must maintain and operate aircraft. But it also congeals lake surfaces to ice more than five feet thick and blankets barrens with snow which can be compacted into airstrips.

Burma Road and the Great Wall of China were comparatively easy to build. The materials were at hand. The builders of Dewline must bring a vast variety of equipment from points thousands of miles distant.

What the Western Electric Co. and its subcontractors need for this Dewline job is enormous in quantity and variety — huge bulldozers, tons of steel and cement prefabricated buildings, wire and cable by the hundreds of miles, food to feed thousands of hungry workmen.

The transportation item will figure heavily in whatever Dewline finally costs—perhaps a billion dollars or more. The greater percentage of the winter shipment now moves by contract commercial aircraft.

In the commercial airlift have been 81 U.S. and Canadian planes. Day and night, they come winging in from the south, leave their loads, head back home for more. Aircraft wrecks add to the transportation cost. The commercial carriers have lost 18 planes and two lives.

Maj. Gen. Chester McCarty, commander of the 18th Air Force, reports that of the 106 aircraft his outfit has used in the airlift three have been in accidents. One was minor; another crash landed but many of its parts were salvageable; the third was a total loss. No lives were lost.

Rev. Allan Caley Is Transferred

Former Pastor Here Goes To Cincinnati

Rev. Allan Caley, former pastor of Grace Methodist Church here, is going to take over the pulpit of the Pleasant Ridge Methodist Church, a Cincinnati suburb, which was formerly occupied by Rev. Lloyd J. Poe, who preached his first sermon in Grace Church here Sunday.

Announcement of Rev. Caley's assignment to the Pleasant Ridge Church was made by Bishop Hazen G. Werner as the minister whose place he will take was assuming the pastorate he held until three years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. Poe moved into the Grace Church parsonage here last Thursday from their former home in Pleasant Ridge for the past eight years. He was given a warm welcome by a capacity congregation which turned out for his first sermon at Grace Church Sunday morning. Mrs. Poe joined him after the service to get acquainted with the members of the new congregation.

Rev. Poe's sermon was on "We Must Be About Our Father's Business." Music was by both the junior and adult choirs.

Rev. Caley went to Morgan Memorial Methodist Church in Columbus in 1953 following his pastorate at Grace Church here.

Before coming to Washington C. H., Rev. Caley had held pastorates at Bainbridge, Cincinnati, Toledo and Dayton.

His appointment to the Pleasant Ridge Church is effective April 29. His successor at Morgan Memorial Church has not yet been named.

U. S. Planes

The C124 Globemasters are probably the most impressive cargo carriers of the whole fantastic transportation system. Globemasters of the 18th Air Force, assigned the job of hauling heavy equipment, have accumulated thousands of flying hours shuttling between the United States and Dewline.

The arctic cold is both a hindrance and help. It imposes all most intolerable pressures on crews who must maintain and operate aircraft. But it also conceals lake surfaces to ice more than five feet thick and blankets barrens with snow which can be compacted into airstrips.

Burma Road and the Great Wall of China were comparatively easy to build. The materials were at hand. The builders of Dewline must bring a vast variety of equipment from points thousands of miles distant.

What the Western Electric Co. and its subcontractors need for this Dewline job is enormous in quantity and variety — huge bulldozers, tons of steel and cement prefabricated buildings, wire and cable by the hundreds of miles, food to feed thousands of hungry workmen.

The transportation item will figure heavily in whatever Dewline finally costs—perhaps a billion dollars or more. The greater percentage of the winter shipment now moves by contract commercial aircraft.

In the commercial airlift have been 81 U.S. and Canadian planes. Day and night, they come winging in from the south, leave their loads, head back home for more. Aircraft wrecks add to the transportation cost. The commercial carriers have lost 18 planes and two lives.

Maj. Gen. Chester McCarty, commander of the 18th Air Force, reports that of the 106 aircraft his outfit has used in the airlift three have been in accidents. One was minor; another crash landed but many of its parts were salvageable; the third was a total loss. No lives were lost.

Rev. Allan Caley Is Transferred

Former Pastor Here Goes To Cincinnati

Rev. Allan Caley, former pastor of Grace Methodist Church here, is going to take over the pulpit of the Pleasant Ridge Methodist Church in a Cincinnati suburb, which was formerly occupied by Rev. Lloyd J. Poe, who preached his first sermon in Grace Church here Sunday.

Announcement of Rev. Caley's assignment to the Pleasant Ridge Church was made by Bishop Hazen G. Werner as the minister whose place he will take was assuming the pastorate he held until three years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. Poe moved into the Grace Church parsonage here last Thursday from their former home in Pleasant Ridge for the past eight years. He was given a warm welcome by a capacity congregation which turned out for his first sermon at Grace Church Sunday morning. Mrs. Poe joined him after the service to get acquainted with the members of the new congregation.

Rev. Poe's sermon was on: "We Must Be About Our Father's Business." Music was by both the junior and adult choirs.

Rev. Caley went to Morgan Memorial Methodist Church in Columbus in 1953 following his pastorate at Grace Church here.

Before coming to Washington C. H., Rev. Caley had held pastorates at Bainbridge, Cincinnati, Toledo and Dayton.
